

PRESS RELEASE
FOR IMMEDIATE DISTRIBUTION

TELCOGAMES BRINGS JAPANESE ARCADE FAVOURITE TO YOUR MOBILE JALECO'S RODLAND TO BE LAUNCHED BY SMARTPHONE SPECIALIST MAGIC PRODUCTIONS

London, UK Paris, 31 January 2007 – Magic Productions, Telcogames's in-house developer of high-end classic arcade games for smartphones, announce the global release of a smartphone version of Rodland, the classic arcade and console game by Jaleco, Japan.

The new mobile version of Rodland has had a complete overhaul now offering stunning graphics never to be seen before on a mobile game. The development of Rodland is also a world first for Telcogames as it is the first time a game has ever been converted directly from an arcade board to a mobile device anywhere in the world.*

Retro favourite Rodland puts you in control of two fairy characters Tam and Rit whose mission is to save their mum who has been captured and taken to a magic castle. Faced with masses of baddies and only a magic rod as protection, your goal is to Kill your enemies and collect fruit in this hilarious best-selling platformer classic. Featuring 70 missions, 35 levels in each story and a full 60 fps framerate for amazing game play this Japanese cult game will keep you playing for hours

Nicholas Hamel, Managing Director, Magic Productions, said: "As leaders in the smartphone gaming development market, we have the capability to react fast to market changes, and to tap in on the increasingly powerful graphical capabilities and processing power of the latest handsets as can be seen in the pixel perfect recreation of Rodland"

Rodland is available across all major network carriers and on all major operating systems and handsets from January.

Notes to Editors

Since it was founded three years ago, Telcogames has established itself as the leading "off-portal" distributor globally, as well as supplying to many of the world's tier 1 – 3 carriers. Following a recent acquisition of two development studios for advanced mobile games; Magic Productions, France and Fathammer, Finland, Telcogames has become global market leader in mobile smartphone games.

Rodland: released in Japan in April 1990 by Jaleco on Amiga. Ported to console and handheld.

* Magic productions used the Arcade System A version of the game which was then ported directly onto smartphone devices.

For further details about the game including a press pack and demo version contact <mailto:press@telcogames.com>

Notes to Editors

SIL was developed in Finland by the Telcogames owned Fathammer studio, an award winning cutting edge development studio and is the latest in a long line of innovative product from the studio. The studio is currently looking at a number of new projects including a great golf game and some more puzzle related games.